Participate in activities that are put forward in the classroom and the placements, ask questions of your supervisors and educators if you don't understand something. We also say to you if you have doubts and consider a skill that you feel is unsafe, both to you and others, then do not do it. Seek advice always. If it is important to you, it's important to us.

You will have to interact and work with many people from different diverse backgrounds and this requires you to be open, honest and non judgmental at all times.

We look forward to seeing you graduate.

The Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF)

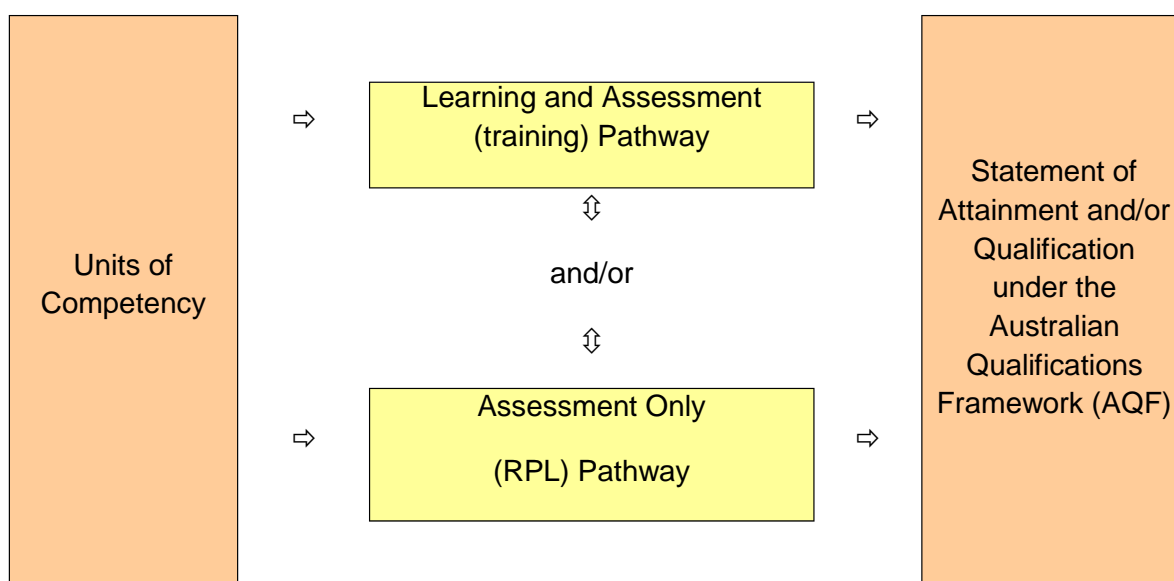

The courses delivered at MMT lead to a nationally recognised qualification under the Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF). Below is a brief description of the AQF and associated frameworks within the Australian nationally recognised Vocational Education and Training (VET) system.

The AQF provides a comprehensive, nationally consistent framework for all qualifications in post-compulsory education and training in Australia. In the VET sector it assists national consistency for all trainees, you, employers and providers by enabling national recognition of Qualifications and Statements of Attainment.

Where a student achieves one or more endorsed units of competency, MMT will issue a Statement of Attainment. Where a student achieves and meets all of the endorsed units of competency within the qualification is eligible for issuance of the full qualification.

What is Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

Assessment under the Health Training Packages leading to an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) Qualification or Statement of Attainment may follow a learning and assessment pathway, an assessment-only or recognition pathway, or a combination of the two as illustrated in the following diagram:¹

MMT offers a two-stage RPL process to all of you. Should you wish to undertake RPL for any competencies you think you already have, please contact MMT, who will provide you with RPL Guidelines. Please note that RPL will attract fees.

Students will be provided with RPL for units they have completed in full, and also for underpinning knowledge (subjects) they have successfully completed previously (please note that practical assessments are required for full achievement of the units).

RPL for underpinning knowledge will require you to show equivalence between the subjects they have completed and the content required for the applicable units of competency and for the practical component will usually involve you to undertake practical assessments, including observation.

On request MMT will provide you with the RPL booklet that needs to be completed and all supporting documentation attached in order for MMT to process your request for RPL.

For further information contact the RTO Administrator at robert@marrmooditj.com.au

MMT RTO Regulatory Body

The Training Accreditation Council (TAC or the Council) is Western Australia's registering and course accrediting body. Marr Mooditj is registered under this body to operate as an RTO. This body is responsible for the quality assurance and recognition of vocational education and training (VET).

Marr Mooditj must ensure we meet all the standards and conditions of its registration.

If you are enrolled into the Certificate IV in Aboriginal and or Torres Strait Islander Primary Health Care Practice, you may apply for the registration at the end of your studies. There is a fee for this registration and we will assist you throughout the process

- After you have enrolled in the program of study, Marr Mooditj is required to provide the relevant National Board with a list of enrolled students (you do not need to do anything at this stage if enrolled in this course).
- On receiving this list, the National Board will make note that you have been enrolled. At the end of your studies you then apply for your registration by providing all your details and fees directly to the board. Then you must wait till the board make contact with you – this can be a 4 week waiting period.

Quality Indicator requirements

Marr Mooditj is to comply with the Standards for Registered Training Organisations (RTOs) 2015 and is required to collect and report your performance against the student engagement, employer satisfaction and competency completion quality indicators to our Registering body. This means that you will be provided with a survey that will collect data on MMT services and this data is uploaded and submitted to the relevant body.

Accredited Courses

When a course has been accredited it means it is has been accepted and approved by the RTOs regulator and MMT would be able to issue a qualification or statement of attainment following its full or partial completion. Once a course has been accredited, it is listed on the National Register (www.training.gov.au)

Recognition of Nationally Recognised AQF Certification from other providers

MMT will recognise Qualifications and Statements of Attainment issued from other RTOs. For this recognition to take place, Qualifications and/or the units of competency listed on the certificates must have the same code and title as those required for the courses offered by MMT.

This recognition leads to full credit transfer and you may not need to enrol in any units where you have achieved full credit transfer. This process is different from the RPL process described above, and does not attract any fees.

For a student to gain credit transfer, you must provide the correct evidence of your existing statements issued and must be direct equivalence to the credit transfer you are seeking. Should you wish to claim recognition for nationally endorsed units of competency you have already attained, please contact the RTO Administrator at robert@marrmooditj.com.au, who will explain the required processes and requirements.

What are Training Packages

A training package is a set of nationally endorsed competency standards and qualifications used to recognise and assess people's skills in a specific industry, industry sector or enterprise. Competency standards (more widely known as units of competency or units) are not minimum standards: they reflect the standard of performance expected in the workplace.

Transitioning arrangements/expiry of accredited courses

At times it may be required that training packages are reviewed and changes made due to industry needs or regulatory laws, should this happen, then MMT will inform you of the changes by:

- discussing this with you during block meetings with student services and managers
- MMT will ensure that you are not disadvantaged or affected by any employment opportunities that may be available to you and will ensure transitioning to new changes meet the standards
- MMT will offer you other courses internally or may refer you to another RTO offering the same course

ASSESSMENTS

Marr Mooditj adheres to the assessment requirement as per the Standards for RTOs 2015 and listed below are some of the information around assessment and what must be considered by you as the learner undertaking any assessments. You have the right to access the training with the right resources and be able to practice the skills over a period of time both in a simulated environment and in the real work place setting. You will only be deemed competent when you have demonstrated sufficient and reliable evidence to show you have the correct skill and knowledge.

During your assessment you will be required to demonstrate your ability to perform relevant tasks in a variety of situations, including in your work placements. You will be required to understand what you are doing and why you are doing it. The assessment is very important part of the training as we need to ensure students are job ready and can perform competently and safely in different contexts and environments. Your assessors must provide you with information on the assessment process before, during and at the end of every assessment. MMT is obligated to you, the relevant industry and employers to ensure we provide the highest possible training, using the correct resources/equipment. This is reflected in you when you are able to carry out the task and demonstrate your knowledge competently and safely.

You need to know what you are doing and why you are doing it, if not then it is important that you don't not carry out the assessment task STOP and ask your assessor to give you more time to practice before re-attempting the task. Do tell your assessor why you need more time to practice so they can ensure adjustment can be made if required.

As a student you must have opportunity for reasonable adjustment if needed to be made during the assessment. This is an opportunity for you to resit your assessment within a reasonable time frame. If you have any special needs that may limit your access to assessments, such as a physical or learning disability, or English not being your first language, please let your educator know and further adjustment can be made.

Reasonable adjustments related to changes that can be made to the assessment process to improve accessibility, such as modification of the assessment method (such as verbal assessment, rather than written) or provision of allowable aids (such as large print assessment materials) may be considered. Please note that reasonable adjustments cannot be made if they compromise the outcomes stated in the units of competency, or if they break legal or statutory requirements.

This is why it is important that you ask lots questions and practice the skills over a period of time, more than three times in different contexts and settings so you can be sure your feeling competent and ready for assessments and understand what is expected of you at all times.

What is an assessment agreement?

The assessment agreement describes the assessment process, required outcomes and assessment tasks as per the block delivery, and a schedule of assessment tasks for the block. Your educator will explain this assessment agreement to you, and you will be required to sign the assessment agreement. This agreement must be filed and a copy will be provided to the student. Assessors are required to ensure you are informed and understand the assessment requirements expectations.

Assessments will be on-going. You will be required to maintain reasonable progress throughout the course, in order to meet the outcomes of the units covered. This ongoing assessment is required to ensure that assessments are carried out over a period of time and in a range of situations, and that evidence of competency is demonstrated consistently.

Assessment outcomes

You will be provided with feedback on your performance after each assessment task; should your performance be considered "not satisfactory", your assessor will discuss your options with you, including further practice or remedial studies.

Should you be found "not yet competent" in any of the units, you will be provided with an opportunity for a re-sit of any tasks that were non-satisfactory at a time set by MMT. As with all assessments, the re-sit schedule is non-negotiable, except under exceptional circumstances.

Once MMT is advised of the placement termination, action will be taken in accordance with MMT's "Alcohol and other Drugs Policy."

Practical Placements are a good opportunity to learn how you can protect your health and safety on the job. Everybody knows that it is essential to learn how to do the job correctly, it is just as important to do that job safely and to be able to recognise what a safe and healthy work environment looks like.

An employer has a legal duty to provide a healthy work placement that is free from hazards to workers' health. However, as a student you have an equally important legal duty to protect yourself and make sure you do not adversely affect the health or safety of your colleagues.

You can do your bit for job safety and a healthy work environment - here are some ideas:

- During your theory training at MMT make sure you understand the safety concepts being taught. If anything is unclear, ask your educators.
- Find out about the basic safety laws especially the ones that affect your particular job.
- Ask your Practical Placement host what arrangements they have made about health and safety. You should find out about:
 - Hazards in the workplace and the ways that have been found to control these hazards. Hazards may include high noise levels, electrical hazards, the use of chemicals, lifting of heavy or awkward loads or repetitive tasks
 - Emergency procedures - what are the procedures for fire safety or the emergency evacuation of the workplace
 - What first aid facilities are available
 - What protective gear is available and when must you use it.

If you think there is a danger to your health or safety speak to your Practical Placement supervisor, safety officer or representative or alternatively, contact MMT or Work Safe Western Australia.

Insurance

MMT holds insurance policies that provide cover for you during your work placement however this insurance does not cover the student travelling to and from your placement. The insurance policy is only valid when you are on unpaid work experience.

You ARE NOT Workers' Compensation patients and should not be treated administratively by the doctor or hospital as such.
